

Durabase Render Specification

Durabase offers a ready-to-render wall system that is to be used alongside a silicone-based thin coat render system.

Our ready to render boards come highly endorsed by industry leading render manufacturers such as K-Rend, Atlas and Ecorend. As well as its great bonding surface and high strength, our ready-to-render board also has great weatherproof properties.

We advise that all rendering work should be carried out by a competent, trained person who has experience using render of this nature.

Joints should be filled and taped after fitting to ensure they are protected against weathering. Screw holes should also be filled.

DO NOT apply a sand and cement, monocouche, dash or thick coat render system to Durabase ready to render wall.
